

Academy Releases Jamwal's Latest Books

JAMMU, April, 25, 2013

At an impressive function held at K.L. Sehgal Hall here on Thursday noted Dogri litterateur, N.D. Jamwal's two latest books "Khoob Samhale Bhav Shuale" and "Te Dogri Ghazal" were released. Organised by J&K Academy of Art, Culture and Languages, the book release function was, among others, attended by Vice Chancellor, Central University of Jammu, Dr. Sudhir S. Bloeria, Dr. Lalit Magotra, Dr. Om Goswami, Mohan Lal Komal, Shyam Talib, Darshan Darshi, Mohan Singh, Dr. Shiv Dev Singh, Dr. Satpal Srivats, Pooran Chand Bargotra, Dr. Gian Singh, Arsh Sehbai, and Khalid Hussain. Secretary Academy, Khalid Bashir Ahmad was also present on the occasion. Speaking on the occasion, Dr. Bloeria described Jamwal as a very versatile writer and said that his contribution to Dogri language and literature was immense.

Commending the efforts of the Academy for giving boost to literary and cultural activities, he said that the Academy should continue to make efforts in this direction. In his speech Jamwal extended thanks to the Academy for releasing his latest books, saying that it was because of institutions like Academy that writing culture was witnessing a boost in the state. Earlier in her welcome remarks, Academy's additional secretary, Savita Bakshi said that Jamwal was a writer of note who had contributed a lot to Dogri language, adding, the Academy would keep on encouraging writers like him. As part of the book release function, Mohan Singh and Dr. Shiv Dev Singh read comprehensive papers highlighting various facets of Jamwals latest books. Both of them appreciated the effort of the writer in bringing out these books.
